

ABSTRACT

A method for multitone processing an N level digital image to produce an M level digital image wherein $M < N$, includes the steps of:
determining M reconstruction levels based on the gray level distribution of the N
5 level image; and applying multilevel dithering to the N level digital image using the M reconstruction levels to produce the M level digital image.

09096798, 062901